Can this driver see you? Maybe, but many motorists don't know how to drive alongside a truck.

Roadway Team gives students in-sight

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

All drivers should avoid the "no-zone." The no-zones are blind spots where truck drivers cannot see cars on the sides, in front and behind their large vehicles. Crashes are much more likely to occur in these areas. Concerned about safety, the Roadway Express District 19 Road Team is giving high school students a truck-driver's view of the road. The Road Team will speak to 5,000 driver education students this year, as well as numerous clubs and organizations, about truck safety. Earlier this month the team was at Granite City High School, and plans to return Nov. 14.

Tax could ensure county light rail

Kane says passage would allow some form of MetroLink system

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

If voters approve Proposition M, MetroLink will come to Madison County in one form or another.

So says Jerry Kane, manager of the Madison County Transit District. Kane said if federal funds are available, a 16-mile extension would be built. If not, an 8-mile section would be built.

Voters in 16 Madison County townships will consider adding a half-cent sales tax to pay for the local share of the cost of extending light rail into Madison County.

If approved, technical issues involved would be worked out in a Major Investment Study, which could be initiated within 15 months following voter approval.

In August the Madison County Board voted to place the referendum on the Nov. 4 ballot.

According to a June 1997 survey of community leaders and public officials, an overwhelming majority said extending MetroLink into Madison County and construction of a new bridge across the Mississippi River were the top priorities.

In a more recent poll, 83 percent of about 600 people polled said extending MetroLink was at least "somewhat" important. Of those, 60 percent said they supported a tax increase to pay for the extension.

PROPOSITION M

The sales tax and investment income would produce an estimated $278 million by 2015.

That amount would cover planning, engineering, construction and operation of a 16-mile MetroLink extension, based on the availability of federal matching funds for 50 percent of the design and construction cost.

Transit officials have identified two possible routes for a Madison County line: one that would run through Collinsville to Edwardsville and a second that would run generally along the western edge of the county to Alton.

The total cost for the full project would be an estimated $915 million. While passage of the referendum is not a guarantee of federal funds, county and transit district officials have said there is no possibility of extending MetroLink into Madison County without the sales tax.

If the referendum is approved, a Major Investment Study, which would deal with technical issues and alignments, could be initiated after voter approval of the referendum.

Halloween dangerous time for kids

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Halloween is coming, a holiday that will send some people out to video stores for scary movies or to costume parties to celebrate.

But in most communities, the holiday is still for kids who will don costumes, and take to the streets in search of goodies.

Suggested hours for trick-or-treating are from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday in Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell.

Foraging in the neighborhood isn't the only option for some area children. For example, the city of Venice is sponsoring its annual Halloween party, set for 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Venice Recreation Center, 323 Broadway.

The party is for children between the ages of 1 and 12, and will include games, candy, prizes and clowns.

Regardless of where they are heading, precautions should be taken to keep reveling youngsters safe.

"Halloween can be one of the most dangerous nights of the year for young children," said Jean Barnard, coordinator of Madison County's SAFE KIDS chapter. "It is important for par-

Army needs more recruits

They are a familiar sight at Christmas — standing out in the cold, ringing bells, guarding red kettles and seeking donations.

Yet somebody has to do it, and the Salvation Army is seeking both volunteers and paid bell ringers, said Capt. Martin Colip, director of the Southwestern Madison County Salvation Army, which covers the Granite City, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Highland areas.

"People don't give to an unmanned kettle."

Bell ringing, which raises about two-thirds of the Salvation Army's local budget, is slated to begin Nov. 14.

This year's goal is about $225,000, Colip said. Last year they raised about $206,000.

"We're hoping for more this year. Well, we need more with the added people," he said. He also said they were in "desperate" need of volunteer groups to ring bells.

"People don't give to an unmanned kettle," he said. "And an unmanned kettle wouldn't be there when I went to pick it up. Somebody would steal it. So you have to have people out there."

"And we're able to really help a lot of people have a good Christmas because they are able to ring bells during Christmas, but at the same

School board election addendum

Editor's Note: Due to a production error, Granite City School District candidate Pete Novacich's candidate's response did not appear in Sunday's Journal. The Journal regrets the error, and presents Mr. Novacich's responses to our questionnaire.

Pete Novacich is running for a third term of the Granite City School District Board on Nov. 4. The term is for four years. He is one of four candidates, the other three being Jim Noeth, Eldin Rea and Walk Whitaker. Novacich appears second on the ballot. All are unopposed.

NOVACICH, 55, of the 4600 block of D'Lyria is self-employed, and has run Novacich Meat Market for past 23 years. He has lived in the area all his life with his wife, Ruth, and two children, Kristin, 23, and Nick, 20. He is seeking a third term on the board.

Qualifications: Previous board experience includes serving as president, vice-president and treasurer. He also cites his business management. Novacich is a graduate of Granite High City School.

Organizations: Include the Elks, Eagles, Knights of Columbus, St. Elizabeth's Church.

Important issues: Completion of high school to see it comes in under budget so it doesn't burden the taxpayers is his No. 1 priority. Watching over education of the kids and making sure they come first.

Candidate's Comments: "When I first ran I ran as the kid's candidate and still consider myself as the kid's candidate."

Christmas trip now on sale

The Granite City Park District will sponsor a one-day Christmas Trip on Nov. 30. The trip is currently on sale at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. The cost of the trip is $35 per person.

The excursion will begin at 1 p.m. with departure from the Ice Rink. The group will travel to Hawthay Hall on the campus of Lewis and Clark College in Godfrey, where a Christmas Show will feature Bobby Powell's Riverbend Jamboree Band. In addition, the Branson-like show will include a children's group of six to ten year olds.

After the show the group will travel to Jerseyville for a dinner buffet at the 518 South Restaurant.

At the end of the leisurely meal, the next destination will be Rock Spring's Park in Alton, where a Christmas light display will be viewed from the motorcoach. Residents of the Park District will have priority in making reservations and proof of residence must be presented for each person making the trip unless husband and wife.

One person can sign up for no more than four people. Non-residents going to the rink will be placed on the waiting list immediately and those wishing to do so by phone may call the Wilson Park Office, 877-3059 after noon.

The entire amount of the trip must be paid at the time reservations are made. A second one day Christmas trip will be on Thursday, December 11, and include shopping at Wentzville and Warrenton, Mo., malls, dinner in Washington, Mo. and a light display in Eureka, Mo. The trip goes on sale in November.

Dobrey receives help for drainage

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Recent improvements in the Dobrey Slough area should improve drainage during heavy rains.

After a legal battle lasting almost six years, workers from Nameoki Township went in last week and reconstructed a drainage swale. The area has a long history of water-related problems. Some nearby residents have had to fill in their basements with sand to keep the foundations from collapsing because of the high water table in the area.

Changes to the swale that allegedly impeded drainage in the area had been the subject of a lawsuit filed against developer Steve Lathrop by the Madison County State's Attorney's office.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said Thursday that they recently reached an agreement allowing the repair work. Nameoki Township Supervisor Ken Davis said a crew went in last week and reconstructed the original swale. However, he said they were not sure if the swale is exactly how they want it.

New transfer center funded

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A $1.6 million grant for the Madison County Transit District's Collinsville transfer center was among more than $2.1 million awarded by the federal government through the Illinois Department of Transportation.

U.S. Sens. Dick Durbin and Carol Moseley-Braun announced the awards by the U.S. Department of Transportation recently.

"These funds are critical to help local transit agencies improve services," Durbin said. "Reliable and efficient public transit relieves crowded highways and provides important transportation alternatives to working people, low-income families, the elderly and persons with disabilities."

The Collinsville transfer center will be similar to transfer centers in Granite City and Edwardsville. The Granite City center has been in use for several years, and the Edwardsville center is under construction.

The $1.6 million grant is the 80 percent federal share of the project, the remaining $400,000 is being matched by local funds.

The center will include a passenger terminal building and an island platform loading area off the street for nine fixed-route buses.

Test your road-sharing skills

Roadway Express, the American Trucking Association and Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association of the United States Inc. offers this test of your road sharing skills:

If you are following a truck too closely, you may be in a driver's blind spot and at greater risk of being in an accident.

TRUE. Every vehicle has blind spots and, in general, the larger the vehicle, the larger the blind spot. If you are following a truck, make certain you are positioned so you can see the driver's rear mirrors. A car following too closely can't see the road ahead and may not stop quickly enough to avoid a crash.

Another good rule is a two-second rule. As the rear of the other vehicle in front of you passes a road marker, count 1001, 1002. If you pass the marker before you finish 1002, you're following too closely.

When following a truck at night, use your high beams so the truck driver will see you. FALSE. Always use your low beams when passing any other vehicle. Bright lights can blind the truck (or car) driver when they reflect off the side- and rear-view mirrors.

When passing a truck, you should stay alongside the truck to let the truck driver know you're there. FALSE. If you linger alongside a truck, you may be in the driver's blind spot and the driver may not know you're there. The proper way to pass a truck is:

• Check your front, sides and rear, signal your intentions and move into the passing lane only if it is clear and you are in a legal passing zone.

• Complete your pass as quickly as possible — do not stay alongside the truck.

• Signal your intentions and move back in front of the truck only when you can see the front of the truck in your rear-view mirror.

• Maintain your speed. Never pull in front of a truck (or any other vehicle) and slow down. This takes away the safety cushion of the driver you have just passed and presents a potentially dangerous situation if you have to stop suddenly.

It's better to follow a truck pulling multiple trailers than to pass it.

FALSE. There is no need to refrain from passing these vehicles. Motorists should treat these trucks as they would any other commercial vehicle.

If a truck driver is attempting to back up, you should let the driver safely complete the maneuver. TRUE. For almost every motorist backing is the most difficult task they have to perform behind the wheel.

When driving in city traffic, pay special attention to truck turn signals.

TRUE. Large trucks make wide turns on tight city streets. Sometimes they must leave an open space to the right just before they turn. To avoid an accident, don't pass a truck on the right if there is a possibility that it might make a right turn.

Road Team needs safety-conscious drivers

Ron Swackhammer and members of the District 19 Road Team always need help spreading the word about truck safety.

Truckers established the Road Team to promote highway safety, explain how to share the road with trucks and demonstrate the importance of trucking to the national economy.

Roadway Express Inc. of Ponton, Mo., sponsors the free program, and makes it available to junior high through college students.

Articulate and safety-conscious truck drivers spread the Road Team's message. To be a spokesperson for the Road Team, participants must:

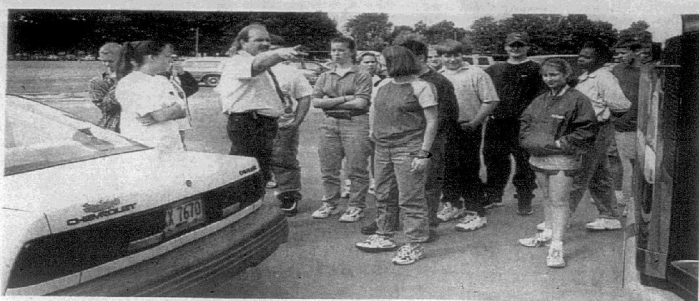

• Be currently employed as a relay, pickup and delivery or combination driver.

• Have a good safety record.

• Be willing to learn how to speak convincingly about commitment to safety and courtesy on the road.

• Be willing to commit to help the Road Team be a positive force in the company and in the public.

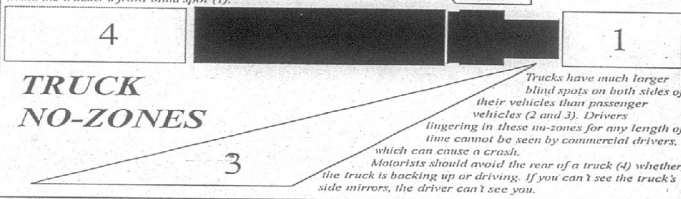

Those interested in participating or want a Road Team presentation, should call Swackhammer on Tuesdays at (314) 349-5300, ext. 346, or Express Inc., 205 Soccer Park Rd., Ponton, MO, 63026.

Tim Sherlock of Granite City points out the fact that a tractor-trailer or truck's driver cannot see the taillights of a passenger car which cuts in front of his truck too close. Sherlock was presenting a program designed to help new drivers share the road with big rigs with the Roadway trucking company's Road Team for the drivers' education classes at Granite City High School.

No-zones represent areas around trucks where crashes will most likely occur. Motorists passing trucks should make certain they can see the front of the truck in their rear-view mirror before changing lanes, to avoid the truck's front blind spot (1).

Trucks

"Our objective is to reduce fatalities and accidents," said Ron Swackhammer, a Road Team member.

The team, consisting of actual truck drivers, uses a 22-minute presentation on sharing the road, good driving techniques and informing motorists about where to drive so truckers can see them.

"They never get a chance to meet the driver behind the wheel," Swackhammer said.

"We get them close to trucks to get rid of their fear."

Next, team members put students in an actual truck, to give them a completely different perspective on the road.

"It gives them hands-on experience with what's on the other side," said Greg Garland, who teaches drivers education at Granite City High School.

The program is very well received, Swackhammer said. "Students now talk in a positive way toward truckers," he said.

The program is helpful in any number of ways, Swackhammer said. It can help reduce accidents, the grief and costs of accidents, can aid law enforcement by reducing crashes with trucks, and help truck employees by reducing downtime due to accidents. "When we can reduce those accidents, they'll reduce commercial vehicle involvement."

time, that is a large expense," he said.
"So we're in need of volunteer groups to take a bell-ringing site for one day."
He said in addition to saving money, volunteer groups tend to bring in more donations because they know so many people.
However, Colip said they are also still looking for paid bell ringers. They have about 30 but are looking for about 90.

"They don't all last," he said. "When it starts getting cold the fair weather ringers will leave."
The Salvation Army will man 32 sites this year, although some will only be manned evenings or weekends. Applications for food baskets and toys will be taken from Nov. 3-21, Colip said. Distribution will be some time around Dec. 18.

They will also begin the Angel Tree program on Nov. 18.
For information about the Salvation Army's Christmas programs, call 451-7957.

Center

ed to 200 children's charities in the metropolitan area. In the early morning hours, volunteers will be out selling the newspapers on Nov. 6 at locations throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area.
Currently, ICA has 102 students, ages three to 21, at the facility's day school. In addition, 17 adults, ages 21 and over, are employed at ICA's Pasta Fare, a gourmet Italian take-out eatery.
Founded in 1992, Pasta Fare provides vocational training and employment opportunities for adult clients, allowing autistic adults to learn the necessary social and vocational skills to function in a job setting.

A developmental disability, autism is broadly characterized by inappropriate and maladaptive behavior, severe communication disorders, uneven intellectual abilities and inadequate social skills.
"They're all going to be very unique individuals and each one has to be looked upon on an individual basis," Kaisor said. "Our main goal is to prevent the unnecessary institutionalization (of autistic individuals) and allow them to reach their highest level of independence."

Each year, the nonprofit ICA, located in Fairview Heights, must raise $2,000 per child to supplement programming services and help provide the day-to-day services provided by the center. Consequently, ICA must raise about $200,000 each year, along with providing the educational components and materials necessary for the center's clients.
Kaisor said the various individuals, organizations and agencies donating to their cause are greatly appreciated.
"I thank God for organizations like Old Newsboys Day, who have been the lifeblood of the organization," Kaisor said. "I don't know where we would be without them."
ICA serves autistic individuals and their families within the southern Illinois and metropolitan area.

Safety

ents to review safety tips with children before they go out trick-or-treating."
Barnard said most Halloween injuries result from falls, burns, contact with cars or are caused by treats. For that reason, SAFE KIDS makes the following suggestions:
• Apply cosmetics directly to the face. It is safer than a mask which can obstruct a child's vision. If a mask is worn, make sure it fits securely and that eye holes are large enough.
• Give trick-or-treaters flashlights.
• Decorate costumes, bags and sacks with reflective tape.
• Never let children under 10 go out alone. A parent or older sibling should go along.
Additional tips include:
• Stay within your neighborhood, visiting only homes you know.
• Only give out and accept wrapped or packaged candy.
• Adults should examine all candy before allowing children to eat it.
• Costumed children should be kept away from pets. Pets may not recognize the child and become frightened.
• Avoid hard, plastic or wooden props such as daggers or swords. Substitute foam rubber objects which are soft and flexible.

More drop-off sites makes county recycling easier

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

With the opening of three new recycling stations in the next few weeks, it will be possible to recycle almost anything, almost anywhere in Madison County.

Two drop-off recycle stations will open in the next week. Solid Waste Coordinator Denise McCleary said. A site at Shop 'n Save, 2122 Troy Road, Edwardsville, will open at 11 a.m. Thursday and a site at Woodland Park in Collinsville will open sometime after Nov. 1, she said.

A drop-off site at the Granite City Schuacks will also be open by mid-November. It will be the second Granite City location. A drop-off site at the Chains of Rocks landfill is already in operation, McCleary said.

McCleary urged that items not be brought to the new locations until after the sites are officially open.

The county has opened or will open five other sites throughout the county this fall in Bethalto, Godfrey, Marine and Pin Oak Township.

All recycle stations accept: newspapers, magazines, junk mail, catalogs, cereal boxes, office paper, corrugated cardboard, aluminum cans, tin cans, glass jars and bottles and #1 and #2 plastic containers.

They will not accept wet items, like water-logged newspapers, nor will they take used appliances, McCleary said.

The Collinsville and Edwardsville locations will also accept textiles. That includes clothing, linens and even tablecloths, shoes and purses. It does not include vinyl goods like shower curtains, McCleary said.

"We're not asking people to give up donating to the Salvation Army and other groups," McCleary said. "They like to get items in good condition and sometimes people have things that aren't. Those are the ones we're after."

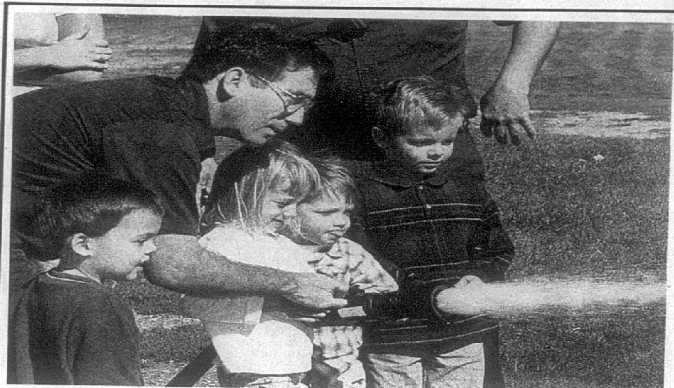

The only request is that shoes be paired.

"Either tie shoelaces together or put a rubberband around the two of them," she said.

The textiles are being taken by Central States Wiping Material of Belleville, where they are made into rags. It is being done at no cost to the county, McCleary said.

"It's another alternative for cloths so they're not being thrown in the garbage," she said.

For more information about recycling, call the Recycling Hotline at 692-7040, ext. 6664.

Feeling the pressure

Children in Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus Kids' Club recently found out how it feels to hold a firefighter's water hose when two Granite City firefighters visited the campus. Holding the hose steady with an assist from firefighter Nellie "Nip" Hagenauer are Allison Fleenor of Granite City, daughter of Patrick and Barbara Fleenor; and Corey Owens, son of Chrissy Owens of Granite City. Looking on are Blake McGowan, far left, and his brother, Jacob, far right, sons of Michelle and John McGowan of Granite City.

For The Last 12 years, Memorial's Had the Grip on Arthritis Care.

In 1985, the Arthritis Service of Southern Illinois was introduced at Memorial to put you in touch with professionals who can help you get a grip on your pain. For the last 12 years, this outpatient diagnostic clinic has helped a large number of residents from all over Southwestern Illinois who suffer from musculoskeletal and joint problems. Convenience, personalized attention and experienced professionals have differentiated the Arthritis Service from other look-alikes which have come and gone since 1985.

The service includes:

Your visit to the Arthritis Service includes an examination by an orthopedic surgeon and an internist. It also may include examination or consultation with a physical therapist, orthopedic nurse, occupational therapist, dietitian and social worker. X-rays and lab tests may be ordered as well.

Fees are charged according to services received. Examinations are by appointment only. Physician referral is not required. For your convenience, a copy of your evaluation report will be sent to your physician.

Poshard discusses spending in visit to BAC

By Cheryl A. Moody
Staff writer

Students at Belleville Area College learned first-hand about the Democratic race for Illinois governor earlier this month when Rep. Glenn Poshard, D-19, spoke to Kevin Monroe's government class. Poshard, 52, represents the third largest congressional district east of the Mississippi, stretching 250 miles from Decatur to Cairo. The district is comprised of 27 counties. Poshard said his top two concerns are education and transportation. He said that less than $2,800 a year is spent in education on two-thirds of the children and between $12,000 and $15,000 is spent on the remaining students. "Now in the eighth, ninth and tenth grade, students are dropping out of school. Our response is to build more prisons," Poshard said. "But we refuse to spend another $1,000 a year on their education. If we allow this situation to go on for another 10 years, we will see economic and social chaos," Poshard said. "We're already seeing that."

Poshard said the only way to permanently affect the disparity in education is to change the way schools are funded. He favors supporting education through state income taxes instead of property taxes. "We need to change the basic funding formula to permanently affect the system," Poshard commented. "All over the state, bond referendums for schools aren't passing because people are upset with high property taxes." Poshard said he has assisted Rep. Jerry Costello, D-12, on transportation issues, including MetroLink and MidAmerica Airport. His political interests dates back to when he was seven years old when he put up signs for 1992 presidential candidate Adell Stevenson. His interests grew during the 1990s presidential campaign between John F. Kennedy and Richard Nixon. In 1984, Poshard captured the Illinois state senate seat and in 1988 was elected to Congress where he has been elected to five terms. He decided to run for governor after being approached by several governmental leaders.

Local named debate scholar

The 12th annual Scholar's Recognition Ceremony was held Oct. 5 at Western Illinois University to honor students receiving scholarships administered through the WIU Foundation. Donald Murphy III, a senior political science major, was named the Harold F. Schory Scholar for Debate. Schory retired after 34 years at WIU. The Schory Memorial Fund provides scholarships to outstanding students in theater and outstanding members of the debate team. Murphy recently earned first place for individual speaking during the third anniversary tournament of the National Eastern Debate Association held at WIU. Since 1984 the WIU Foundation has served as a depository for funds donated to it by alumni, faculty and staff, friends, parents, corporations and foundations in support of

Donald Murphy

Western's mission to provide premier undergraduate education among public universities in Illinois. The Foundation has provided more than $6 million in scholarship support since 1987.

More than 100 employers scheduled for job fair

For butchers, bakers, candlestick makers and anyone else looking for a new job, Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus, 4950 Maryville Road, presents the Fall Job Fair on Nov. 13. Representatives from more than 100 Metro East and St. Louis companies will be assembled in the campus cafeteria from 8:30 a.m. to noon to discuss job opportunities and receive resumes from prospective applicants. It will be the largest job fair ever at the GCC.

Those attending the job fair should dress professionally. Among the career fields that will be represented are: banking, community service, health care, law enforcement, health care, insurance and mass communications. For more information on the Fall Job Fair, call the GCC Career Placement Center at (301-6600 or (800) BAC-5131, extensions 441 or 442.

4 receive Anderson scholarships

The Anderson Hospital Auxiliary of Maryville awards scholarships to area students studying in the allied health fields. Four students recently were selected to receive scholarships for $1,000 each for the 1997 school year. The students are: Kristi Hentz of Edwardsville, who will attend St. Louis University; Mea Cass of Madison, who will attend Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville; and Ruth Ann Siedner and Wendy Hartlieb, both of Highland, who will attend Belleville Area College.

GC native nets scholarship

Renee Barron of Granite City has received the Lester and Susan Gustin Scholarship for the current academic year. Barron is a senior social work major at Olivet Nazarene University in Bourbonnais, Ill. She is the daughter of William and Sheryl Biggs of Granite City and 1997 graduate of Granite City High School. Olivet is an evangelical liberal arts institute of higher education affiliated with and supported by the Church of the Nazarene and accredited by the North Central Association.

East Terminal nearly complete at Lambert

By Kelli Hauser
Staff writer

Inside and out, the new East Terminal is taking shape.

The Lambert-St. Louis International Airport renovation project, which began in February 1996, is on time and within its budget, airport officials said. It should reach completion in early 1998, with the total cost coming in around $97 million.

"I think this was probably one of the best examples of everybody working together and planning from the beginning," said Lambert Director Col. Leonard Griggs.

Griggs said the project was well-planned and both the costs and the time frame were realistic.

When the new East Terminal is completed it will blend with the old facilities as if it were part of the original design from the mid-1950s. It will still include the latest materials and building technology.

One special feature is energy-efficient glass on the high, slanted windows of the terminal. The angle of the windows will allow light in, but block out heat. The light, along with the building's white interior, creates a spacious and open feel.

The efficiency of the windows is complemented by other features of the building.

"The doors coming into the terminal on both levels have air curtains," said Don Ruble, director of capital improvements. Ruble said high-powered fans will blow air down as the doors open to prevent the outside air from coming in. This technology is also used in the Main Terminal.

"The whole thing was designed to be an energy-efficient building," Griggs said. After an initial preparation phase, the East Terminal construction has followed three phases. The main components are the ramp, terminal and parking garage.

"Everything is coming along exactly the way we visualized it."

airport director

The ramp was included in phase one, which was completed over a year ago. Phase one included the construction of the aircraft apron, Air Cargo Road and the snow melting pad. The pad, currently in operation, melts the snow and transfers the water to a retention pond.

Terminal work is ongoing as part of phase two, which also includes the concourse and apron. Plans call for the Southwest Airlines ticket and baggage check areas to occupy the new terminal on the completion of phase two. Phase three includes the multilevel parking garage, which also is underway. Additional roadways and a second MetroLink station also are included in the phase.

In the end, the East Terminal will offer 12 new gates for Southwest Airlines, which currently operates out of eight gates in the East Terminal. Griggs said the first eight gates should open by the beginning of May. The remaining gates will open in October.

Griggs said Southwest's net gain of four gates will allow them to grow as a company. "Everything is coming along exactly the way we visualized it," he said. "I'm very pleased with the team."

Costello reaps service award

The Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging has awarded U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello the Kenneth Hall Public Service and Leadership Award for his work in Congress on issues affecting senior citizens.

Costello recently fought against proposals calling for drastic cuts in Medicare and for a bill to extend the life of the Medicare Trust Fund by 10 years. He also fought amendments that would have increased the retirement age or cut cost-of-living adjustments for seniors.

The Kenneth Hall Award is named after the former Illinois state senator whose public career exemplified a personal commitment to issues affecting senior citizens.

The award was presented at the Jack's on the Green Restaurant in Fairview Heights.

Museum hard to describe for staffers

By Ellen Ellick
Staff writer

One of the biggest problems with the new City Museum is how best to describe it. "That's the hardest question," says Jean McLang, the museum's assistant director.

ST. LOUIS

"We keep coming up with 'incredible,' she says, then proceeds to give the question another try.

"It's art. It's adventure. It's history." And Saturday, the City Museum, 701 N. 15th St., opened to the public. The brainchild of sculptors Bob and Gail Cassilly is still something of a work in progress. During a recent open house, workers scurried about the former shoe factory, continuing the transformation work, which is likely to continue after its opening.

That may seem only appropriate. Elizabeth Franke, an architect and the City Museum's volunteer coordinator, said the City Museum is "about process, not product." It's a place where visitors can actually watch artists at work. Several artists maintain studios in the museum.

Franke herself stumbled onto the City Museum by accident some months ago. On an unrelated errand in the area, she peeked inside the future museum and spotted the sculpture of a bowhead whale. Her curiosity peaked. She soon found out the museum-to-be would contain an architectural museum among its treasures.

"Then I knew I had to get involved," she said at the recent reception where, in the background, children walked into the mouth of the same whale and visitors old and young explored magical caves nearby.

Franke is excited about the way the City Museum recycles materials — metal pans that once housed mice used in hospital experiments now make up a wall. Old watchbands make up the scales on the back of a giant lizard. Mosaic tiles left over from St. Louis Centre are now a mosaic.

Wrenches once used by iron workers are now a wrought-iron railing. And that's just for starters.

Franke and others are quick to point out this museum is, well, just plain fun. In fact, in the beginning the founders thought it would be a children's museum, full of hands-on projects and surprises around every turn.

It's still full of hands-on projects and surprises around every turn, but it's not just for kids, although it strives to appeal to the kid inside. The museum's slogan invites people to "Explore the Unexpected."

Among areas to explore are the St. Louis Architectural Museum, which includes ornaments and facades rescued from the winking ball, the Eugene Field House and St. Louis Toy Museum; a model train collection; a 35,000 gallon fish tank; the world's largest windmill; the Museum of Mirth, Mystery and Mayhem; glass blowing demonstrations; and The Russian Dinosaur Exposition.

Shrine to feature roses
A display of 20,000 roses at the Church of Our Lady of the Snows will honor deceased friends and family of Missionary Association members on Sunday, Nov. 2, the Feast of All Souls.

Believed to be one of the largest public display of roses in the country, this annual exhibit has become a special tradition for Missionary Association members. Through prayers and financial contributions, Missionary Association members support the work of the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate, a congregation of nearly 5,000 priests and brothers who serve the needs of the poor in more than 90 countries throughout the world and in the United States.

As part of the All Souls Day Feast, a Mass is celebrated at 11:30 a.m. on Nov. 2 and includes a rosary procession. In addition, names of deceased friends, family, and Missionary Association members are recited throughout the day.

The rose display runs from Nov. 1-3 and is open to the public.

For additional information, contact the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 618-397-6700.

Ford Expedition

Ford Expedition continues to be hot seller

By Tom Strongman

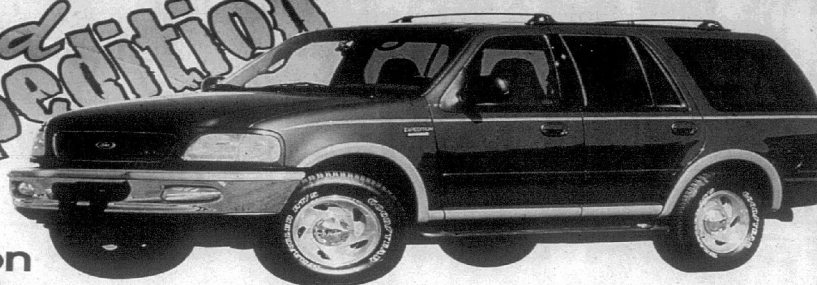

Full-size sport-utility vehicles continue to sell as fast as mosquito repellent in Minnesota, and Ford's Expedition is one reason why.

Even though it is based on the F-150 pickup, it doesn't drive like a truck, except when you look down on the cars around you and realize how high you are. It has the comfort of a Town Car, space for eight and can tow up to 8,000 pounds.

The Expedition is targeted directly at the Chevy Tahoe, GMC Yukon and Suburban. The front-end sheet metal is exactly the same as the F-150 truck, but from the windshield pillar back it looks like an oversize Explorer. With an overall length of 204 inches and a height of 76.4 inches, it just fits in a standard garage. Although it is capable of seriously rugged duty, most folks will use it as a passenger car more than 95 percent of the time. Much of its appeal comes from its versatility. You can cram in (pick one): a Little League team; two bicycles; an Oriental rug; or an antique bookcase and still have space left over. Try that with your luxury sedan.

You also can fill it full of camping gear and slog down rutted gravel tracks to hidden fishing holes without having to worry about getting stuck.

In other words, sport-utility vehicles are the automotive equivalent of a Swiss Army knife: One object can do many things. Minivans used to fall into this same category, except they can't go off-road and lack the heavy towing capabilities.

In addition to versatility, Expedition's tall stance provides a panoramic view of traffic and makes the driver feel impervious to the comings and goings of the cars on all sides. Feeling safe is always alluring.

Originally introduced as a 1997, the Expedition is largely unchanged for 1998. There are two single-overhead-cam (SOHC) V-8s: a 4.6-liter with 215 horsepower or a 5.4-liter with 230 horsepower. Our test vehicle, a top-line Eddie Bauer model with four-wheel drive, had the larger engine and the 3.73 rear axle ratio for better acceleration and towing. The 5.4-liter's extra power was most welcome when we had six people inside.

Four-wheel-drive Expeditions are equipped with Control-Trace, Ford's full-time system operated by a dash-mounted switch. It gives all-wheel drive when you want, plus two four-wheel settings.

One of the good things about the Expedition's four-wheel-drive system is a torsion-bar front suspension and computer-controlled, load-leveling air suspension in back. With the key off, the air suspension lowers the vehicle an inch for easier entry, and raises it an inch for more ground clearance when you select four-wheel drive, low range. The smooth highway ride also can be attributed to the air suspension.

The instrument panel comes directly from the pickup, and thoughtful ergonomics make it easy to use. The rear seat has separate controls for heating/cooling and stereo.

Up front, an overhead console has a compass, trip computer, map lights and compartments for a garage-door opener and sun glasses.

The console between the front bucket seats has two cup holders and a large storage compartment. Very handy map pockets are integrated into its sides, and each door has a large bin for assorted papers.

The front seats are wide and accommodating, but are not as firm and supportive as those in the Explorer XLT. Legroom for back-seat passengers is most generous.

The third seat is great when you need it, but getting back there takes the agility of a gymnast. Unfortunately, it takes up most of the available luggage space, and while the back folds forward, the seat itself doesn't collapse into the floor. So it has to be removed if you are going to use the cargo hold.

Lighted running boards are one of numerous clever touches. Another is turn signal indicators in the outside rear view mirrors.

The base price of our test car was $34,950. Options included the Eddie Bauer package, 17-inch aluminum wheels, premium stereo, skid-plates, air suspension, third-row seat, rear heating/cooling and trailer towing group.

The sticker price was $39,605.

The basic warranty is for three years or 36,000 miles.

Point: This full-size SUV is not only as rugged as a pickup truck, but as plush as a luxury sedan, particularly when it is dolled up with the Eddie Bauer package, air suspension and the larger 5.4-liter V-8.

Counterpoint: The Expedition is tall, and getting in requires a big step. Gas mileage is not great, and the third seat has to be removed for decent luggage space.

POINTS & PLUGS

By Rick Stoft

From 300 to 500 residents of San Francisco live in their cars, putting a new twist on efforts to deal with the city's homeless population. City officials are looking for a potential site and considering the feasibility of a "vehicle-based community" in which otherwise homeless people could live in their cars, vans and trailers.

The community might contain showers, bathrooms and offices for social services workers. Those workers would help residents with addictions and mental illnesses which cause some people to be homeless. In theory, the assistance could get the wheeled homeless into real homes and maybe better cars.

Sometimes you can't move at all on southern California freeways. Sometimes you can't move fast enough.

California drivers can make a rush hour look like the start of a stock car race with their high-speed maneuvers and lane changes. (And just like Midwestern drivers, they don't believe in turn signals, either.) The commuter traffic around San Diego has become so exciting, the state highway patrol is planning to resume the long-forgotten tactic of airborne speed enforcement.

Computer traffic monitoring systems show that rush hour traffic on some freeways around San Diego averages speeds as high as 74 mph.

These daytime running lights showing up on many new cars are a bad idea, according to the National Motorists Association. The headlights come on whenever the car is running, presumably to make the car more visible to other motorists.

But when all cars have lights on during the day, none will stand out from the crowd, the NMA says. The association has asked the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to prohibit car manufacturers from selling cars with daytime running lights that are "hard-wired," meaning the driver cannot turn them off.

NMA contends the daytime lights will make emergency vehicles, motorcyclists, pedestrians and bicyclists less conspicuous, distort motorists' distance perception, increase the glare inflicted on other motorists and make it harder to see front turn signals during the day.

The association says daytime running lights are "wasteful and counterproductive." We are not dismissing the value of daytime headlights used for very specific purposes and during periods of reduced visibility. However, we believe the proliferation of hard-wired DRLs will undermine these advantages.

We could be getting bored with trucks and vans. This hot market segment is cooling down, according to the Wall Street Journal. While sales of these vehicles increased at an average rate of 9.8 percent from 1991 through 1996, minivan sales were down 2.3 percent through the first half of 1997 and pickup truck sales declined 3.4 percent. Sport-utility vehicle sales were up 15 percent through the end of June.

'Melee' shouldn't diminish Devils' good deeds

No need to rehearse here the details of an Oct. 5 incident that followed a football game at the Little Devils Field parking lot adjacent to Citizens Park in Belleville.

Problem is that as a reader and listener, I do not think I'll ever know the details of the altercation that erupted between persons involved with a Little Devils team and persons involved with a team called the Collinsville Raiders.

Apparently an arrest was made of a 30-year-old Belleville resident on a charge of battery allegedly for throwing an 11-year-old boy to the ground during what has been called a "brawl" and a "melee" by some members of the media.

I even heard Belleville police Chief Jim Rokita refer to the matter twice during a radio KMOX interview as a "large disturbance."

The problem with using such words is that they blend poorly with the knowledge that alcohol is sold at the concession stand at the Little Devils Field.

Before mentioning that I made my first visit of the year to Devils Field on Sunday, Oct. 19, please understand that I've attended numerous games there through the years (this marks the 40th year of the Little Devils) and purchased only hot chocolate while not caring if someone else bought beer.

My point is that the Devils do too many positive things to let what someone calls a "maybe a two-minute matter" destroy the club's image.

For the concerned do-gooders, the first page of the current Devils program book must be a real eye-opener since it's a full page ad with best wishes from the Illinois Distributing Company — you know, the one that distributes Anheuser-Busch products.

Meanwhile, the same program includes an introduction by Devils President Jeffrey D. Harris, who refers to much more than the benefits of football as offered by the organization that began in 1957.

Harris cites the Devils wrestling program that finished second in state competition last year with individual champions in Aaron Rujawitz, Corey Ford and three-time state champ Dusty Carpenter.

In addition, the Devils select cheerleading squad earned a first-place team trophy at the O'Fallon clinic and have performed at high school and professional (the Rams) games.

While plans are underway for the Devils to light their current field and develop an adjacent practice field on their approximate seven to 10 acres, the recent "problem" has overshadowed the good of the 13 Devils team whose cost is eased by the profits of the concession stand as well as by public and private contributors.

Through the years the Devils also have presented prizes to members of the Althoff, East and West high school football and wrestling teams.

Regardless of the action of the Tri-County League to place the Devils on probation for a year and to suspend a Devils coach and the father of a Devils player for their part in the fight, it appears — with or without alcohol being sold or on the premise — all the Belleville club has to do is follow a league by-law.

Article 11 states: "The purpose of the league shall be to promote the game of football in the area; to inspire children to practice good health, citizenship and character; to bring area

O'Brian places second in bi-state tourney

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

If professor Harold Hill is correct, in Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man" — if "pool starts with p," which rhymes with "t," which stands for "trouble" — then the Granite City area is in some serious trouble.

Billiards is big business in and around Granite City. It is one of the region's most popular indoor sports. Perhaps, the most popular.

Don O'Brian of Pontoon Beach recently cashed in on a quarter-century of playing pool by placing second in the Illinois-Missouri Eight Ball Tournament at Starlight Billiards in St. Louis the weekend of Oct. 18.

It was an impressive accomplishment for a play-when-you-can shooter whose work schedule limits his billiard playing. But when you have played pool most of your life, O'Brian has it doesn't take too long to get in the groove.

And O'Brian was in the groove through tournament play. "I knew I was on my game. I could feel it Saturday night," he said. "I could tell just by how I was playing early on that I was going to have a great tournament."

And a great tournament it was — the highlight of his career in the game. But it didn't come without some difficulty, or without some butterflies in the stomach.

"I was nervous," he confessed, "but the more nervous I got, the better I played. Being nervous forced me to concentrate. And by concentrating, I played the best pool I have ever played in any kind of league or tournament competition."

O'Brian, who plays in the Illinois Eight Ball League, was up against some 250 of the best billiard players in the bi-state area. He advanced to the championship round by winning the C Division competition, then proceeded to knock off higher ranked opponents until his loss in the title contest.

"A lot of people at the tournament — the upper level players — were not pleased that I did so well," said O'Brian. "I was a C player and I was beating all the triple-A players, and they didn't like it. I really don't know why people feel that way, but some do. To me, pool is a gentlemen's game. If they want to feel that way, that's their problem. My teammates were happy for me, but others resented my success. But I got my trophy, got my check and went home happy."

O'Brian, because he works nights, doesn't get to play pool as much as he would like. But he does play for Way-side Tavern whenever he can.

"I wish I could play more than I do," he said. "I really love the game. And I love the challenge of the game. I love winning."

Don's wife Vivian doesn't shoot billiards, but she enjoys watching her husband play.

"We have six boys and a girl, so that keeps me from doing much else," he

Flyers put end to Redbirds' playoff bid

East St. Louis running back Marcus Lee had a monstrous day Saturday against Alton, rushing for 190 yards on 18 carries and three touchdowns.

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

Alton High School will have to wait until at least next season to make the Illinois High School Association football playoffs.

Redbirds coach Bob Shannon will have to wait until next season to pick up career win No. 200.

East St. Louis Senior saw to that Saturday afternoon at Clyde C. Jordan Memorial Stadium, blasting Alton 36-21.

For Shannon, it was an inauspicious return to the site of gridiron glory past. The former Flyers coach won 193 games at East St. Louis, including six state championships. And until the coach's unpleasant parting with East Side two seasons ago, the stadium was affectionately referred to as "The House that Shannon built."

Times have changed.

But one thing remains the same: East St. Louis beat Alton for the 23rd straight year. Not since 1976, the year before Shannon became the Flyers head coach, have the Redbirds scored a win in the series. That was a 17-12 victory at Parsons Field against an East Side team that finished 1-7-1, with a forfeit win against Cahokia.

The Flyers, playing for only the second time in seven weeks following a teachers' strike, cruised to a 36-0 lead early in the third period and effectively ended any playoff hopes Alton may have harbored.

"They're the biggest team this side of the Rams and they kind of hammered us a little bit," said Shannon. "Some of our kids were a little intimidated. East Side's got some veteran guys that hammered us, and wore us down."

Shannon was not the first to make such an observation. Granite City coach Nick Petrillo said much the same after the Warriors had been physically pounded by the Flyers, leaving them limping for the Edwardsville game this past Friday.

Harmon scored 15 of its 21 points in the last 47 seconds, making the game look more respectable than it actually was.

The Flyers' vaunted defensive front spent as much time in the Redbirds' backfield as did Alton's fullbacks. Quarterback Craig Harmon, who put up impressive numbers on the season, was sacked three times and knocked down regularly. In all, AHS rushed nine times for negative-12 yards.

Harmon still managed to post fine numbers, though most of his yardage came late in the game. The senior team-leader completed 14 of 26 passes for 259 yards and three touchdowns.

The day, however, belonged to the Flyers. Tailback Marcus Lee picked up 190 yards on 18 carries and scored a trio of touchdowns, including a pair in the first half which helped East Side to a 21-0 lead at intermission. Lee also scored the Flyers' last points of the after-

Thanks: Warriors fall coaches are a helpful bunch

Pat
Heston

The annual fall back to Central Standard Time signals the beginning of the end of fall sports at the high school level and announces that winter sports are just around the corner.

Covering six sports for five schools is always a major task, but it was made easier this fall by the East St. Louis coaches strike. There's just not much of a story in a forfeited game, no matter what angle you use.

Still, conflicting schedules and uncooperative coaches made adequate coverage a tricky chore.

That is why I am especially grateful to several coaches in particular and to the administration at Granite City High School. Together, they simplified my task.

As always, athletic director Jerry McKechan was a huge help. My job would have been decidedly more difficult if not for his tireless work and his unfailing willingness to help. McKechan is a very busy man, and I often felt like a pest when I called him for schedules, rosters, phone numbers, results or whatever, knowing that he had much more important matters to deal with than feeding me information or helping me make deadlines. But, McKechan never failed to deliver on what I needed or on what he promised — and more.

Girls tennis coach Linda Ames knew I would be getting trouble this fall getting to a lot of tennis matches, and when I couldn't be present, she was always on the phone giving me not only the results of the matches, but a feel for the matches as well. She is that combination of coach that all sports writers love — a good coach, providing good quotes and giving all the help needed when needed. It was a pleasure to work with her.

Boone Chaney bent over backward to help me in any way he could. Chaney, the GCIS golf coach and a teacher at Grigsby Middle School, always had time for me. Always. He anticipated my needs in advance and never failed to provide me with anything and everything I needed — hard copies of results, interviews, picture shoots or tournament schedules. A knowledgeable coach, Chaney was always good for a quote and always gave a fair, accurate and newsworthy assessment of his players' performances.

Warriors football coach Nick Petrillo suffered through hard campaign this fall. That often does things to coaches who, in turn, often do things to sports writers. But Petrillo was always a gentleman, always first-class, always a help, and always willing to talk. I know it had to be hard for him, in an irritating season that played out like a broken record, to keep talking about the same team troubles week after week, but he did it willingly, pleasantly and helpfully.

Up until last week, when the soccer Warriors seemed to finally get their act together, Gene Baker, like Petrillo, had endured a very frustrating season. I am sure there were times when he didn't want to be bothered — after a tough loss, during the school day, or at home at night — but he never let on. He always returned my calls, always answered my questions, always provided what I needed and always did more than I asked. Like other coaches in the Granite City school system, Gene Baker is a class act all the way.

Many readers probably take a sports story somewhat for granted, failing to realize that it doesn't get written — at least, not well — without the help of coaches.

But there's one guy who sure doesn't take it all for granted. Me.

Jerry McKechan; Linda Ames; Boone Chaney; Nick Petrillo; and Gene Baker. Thanks, I couldn't have done it without you.

Granite City grad Dowdy getting acclimated at SLU

Special to the Journal

WOMEN'S COLLEGE SOCCER SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY

Saint Louis.

"The overall skill level of everyone on our team and of most of our opponents is much higher than at the junior college level, and that took some getting used to," Dowdy said. "The support staff also is much stronger and that has helped a lot. Being mostly just playing with these guys and learning my role has helped me feel more comfortable on the field."

Dowdy looked as if she had adapted to the higher level very well on Oct. 1. In a tight defensive struggle with Eastern Illinois University, she dribbled through three defenders and fired a 15-yard shot with 12 seconds remaining in regulation to lift the Bills to a 1-0 non-conference win.

Dowdy is third on the team in scoring with 10 points, coming on a pair of goals and six assists. She paces both the Billikens and Conference USA in assists. Billikens coach Tim Champion expects to see more production from Dowdy down the stretch.

She is still making the transition to Division I, but you can see that she is becoming much more of a physical presence up top for us," Champion said. "Her ability to beat defenders in tight spaces adds another weapon to our arsenal."

Dowdy also sees herself continuing to improve. "We are still getting used to playing with each other," she said. "As we get more comfortable, we will be more effective."

A day in court: May pleads guilty; Harris acquitted

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

Former East St. Louis Senior High School athletic director Art May faces up to 49 years in prison and a fine of up to $1.3 million after pleading guilty Thursday to stealing $90,000 from East Side's athletic program and then lying to the Internal Revenue Service.

May also admitted to having sex with female students.

Whereas the issue may now be in the past for May, who is 53 years old, it is anything but over for the East St. Louis school district that has had its own share of problems recently. According to information gleaned from their investigation of May, authorities indicate that other district employees may also have been having affairs with students.

May, who was suspended with pay in December, retired June 2 after 32 years with the district. He was indicted in August for crimes occurring between January 1993 and December 1996.

"$90,000 is an awful lot to take from any school district, let alone a financially distressed district such as East St. Louis," said Richard Mark, chairperson of the state panel appointed to oversee the District 189 finances. "From my conversation with investigators, $90,000 was the amount that was traceable and documented from one year. The feeling is that he was taking that amount or more for the last five or six years."

Beyond the stiff fines imposed, Mark is intent on going after May's $33,000 in severance pay as well as May's pension plan to help reimburse the athletic fund.

It has been two years since former East St. Louis Senior football coach Bob Shannon resigned his position, drawing criticism in the process for his allegations that May had been misappropriating school athletic funds. Shannon is currently the football coach at Alton High School.

In other news from East St. Louis athletics, former East Side and St. Louis Rams football player James Harris was acquitted of charges that he supplied money to a drug ring.

The acquittal came shortly after court reconvened 10 a.m. Thursday, as soon as prosecutors rested their case. U.S. District Judge Paul Riley ended the trial after two days of testimony, involving nearly two dozen witnesses, none of whom connected Harris to the drug ring. The verdict, without the jury's cooperation, was a first for Riley, who had never before taken such action in four years on the federal bench.

Judge Riley, who said prosecutors failed to prove Harris helped a drug conspiracy, wanted to help a drug conspiracy or even knew there was a drug conspiracy, told jurors, "I will tell you there was nothing that could have led you to that kind of conclusion."

Cougars stretch winning streak to 15 games

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writerCOLLEGE SOCCER
SIU-EDWARDSVILLE

Fifteen and counting.

The Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville men's soccer team recorded two more victories this past weekend to increase its winning streak to 15 games — a new school record for consecutive wins in a season.

The Cougars (15-0-1) topped Mercyhurst, previously ranked No. 8 in the nation, 2-1 on Saturday night and came back the next day to upend 26th-ranked Gannon (also 2-1) to set the new mark. The previous mark of 14 was established in 1968 and duplicated in 1969. The record for consecutive victories is 24 seasons, which took place over two seasons.

With the victories, the Cougars have clawed their way to No. 3 ranking in the nation, according to the National Soccer Coaches Association of America/NCAA Division II national rankings.

Jaron Hines and Brett Darby each tallied goals against Mercyhurst. Darren Snyder assisted on both.

According to the recently released Great Lakes Valley Conference statistical report, the Cougars are the top team in scoring and team defense.

SIUE is averaging 3.50 goals per contest with 56 goals in 16 games. Matt Little leads the team with 11 goals and six assists for 26 points, which is second in the GLVC to Ben Fry of Indianapolis, who has 15 goals and three assists for 33 points.

Andy Korbesmeyer is the top goalkeeper in the conference. He has a goals against average of 0.81. Dan Tredo of Wisconsin-Parkside is next with a 1.15 GAA.

The Cougars will put their 15-game winning streak on the line 3 p.m. Saturday against 26th-ranked Wisconsin-Parkside (10-5-1) and 3 p.m. Sunday against 24th-ranked Lewis University (11-4-2). All three teams still have a shot at the GLVC league title.

The GLVC league winner gets the opportunity to host the conference semifinals and finals, Nov. 8-9.

At the game I witnessed on a beautiful Sunday, I saw no evidence of anything but good sportsmanship — something that was the norm during any of my previous visits there or at the Pilgrim Bowl on Thanksgiving weekend when the Devils used to team with the Belleville Little Knights in a little league extravaganza.

I need to know much more about the Oct. 5 incident, especially specifics, to change my opinion about the Little Devils organization as a whole.

noon, picking off a Harmon pass with 9:16 left in the third quarter and returning it 51 yards for a touchdown. Lee also had a 57-yard rushing score.

The loss dropped the Redbirds to 3-3 in the Southwestern Conference, 5-4 overall. East Side, finished 2-4 in the SWC and stands 2-6 on the year.

The Flyers, however, are 2-1 in actual games played this season.

Mississippi Queen pays royal visit

The Mississippi Queen got a royal welcome Oct. 23 from a few hundred River Bend residents, a throwback to the days when magnificent stater-wheelers stopped here regularly with cotton, passengers and news from afar.

Capt. Buddy Muirhead steered the huge passenger stater-wheeler into a spot next to the Alton Belle Casino, where Mayor Don Sandidge and a delegation of aldermen and other city officials welcomed the captain ashore.

"We have many world travelers, and when they travel the river, the thing they enjoy the most is the friendliness they find in the river towns," said Muirhead, who lives aboard the Queen with his wife, Alice, when he is not at home in Arkansas.

The captain welcomed city officials and tourism officials aboard, treating them to a lavish buffet lunch in one of several dining and show areas on the riverboat.

On shore, a small band, the Mississippi River Rats, plunked out jazz and ragtime tunes, while Debbie Benjamin from the Greater Alton/Twin Rivers Convention and Visitors Bureau and Sharlene Meyer from Alton Marketplace welcomed travelers ashore with rounds of applause.

"I've been 'all over the world, and I've never seen a more friendly town, from South Africa to Europe," said Don Howard of Ventura, Calif., as he walked ashore shaking hands with the people who came to look at the boat.

The people on shore came down to the Mississippi River's edge to see the boat and take the $1 tour, while the people on board the Mississippi Queen came ashore to shop and tour Alton, including Melvin Price Lockwood and Dam.

The situation reminded some of a scene from Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi" in which the call echoed through town, "Steamboat's comin'!"

The Mississippi Queen docked about 11:30 a.m. Muirhead, who retired after 38 years of working on the river for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and his usual takes the wheel from one of his two pilots when coming into port.

He said the boat offers a variety of tours, such as St. Louis to Hannibal, Mo., and back in three days, or St. Paul, Minn., to New Orleans in 14 days.

"We do the largest repeat business in the country because people love the grandeur of the river," Muirhead said. "Many people don't know what they have in their own back yard."

The passengers said they enjoyed cruising along the Mississippi River bluffs near Alton, where the leaves are beginning to turn color.

Absentee ballots now available

In-person absentee voting is now available through the office of Mark Von Nida, county clerk, and through the following offices: Edwardsville city clerk, Glen Carbon village clerk, Granite City clerk, Troy city clerk, Chouteau Township clerk, and Namoki Township clerk.

All ballots are not available at all locations. Each location serves a specific area.

In-person absentee voting is available in the office of the county clerk, Suite 109, Madison County Administration Building in Edwardsville until 5 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 3.

The office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Nov. 1, for the convenience of persons who wish to vote an absentee ballot.

Any questions regarding absentee voting or voting in general should be directed to the county clerk's office at 692-6290.

INSIDE

Micro Raves

It may not be carved in stone, but it's true. A pumpkin is more than a pretty face.

Lively Taste

Carrots added to risotto radiate favorite colors. To make the risotto, cook 1/2 cup finely chopped onion and 2 small carrots, finely shredded, in 1 tablespoon unsalted butter or olive oil, stirring often, about 10 minutes until carrot is soft and dry. Stir in 1 cup arborio or other short-grain rice. Cook 1 minute. Add 1/4 cup sherry or vegetable broth. Cook 1 to 2 minutes until liquid is almost evaporated. Add 4 cups warm chicken broth, 1/2 cup at a time, stirring until broth is almost entirely absorbed before adding more. Lower heat to avoid browning vegetables. After about 20 minutes, when rice is done, but still firm and spoon cuts clear path through mixture, stir in 2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese. Season to taste with freshly ground pepper. Serve immediately with warm black bean soup placed in a small hollowed-out pumpkin. For dessert, garnish sliced oranges with little bunches of black grapes and border with candy corn.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

Cereals, vegetables and fruits are high in fiber content. Beans and tofu products are high in phytoestrogen substances. New research indicates women who increase their consumption of soy and fiber by eating these foods have a lower incidence of endometrial cancer.

Fresh Picks

Bartlett pears take fresh-fruit eaters through the seasons. Favorite summer recipes for peaches or nectarines usually can switch to pears. For an easy dessert for family or guests, try roasting the sweet fruit. Place 6 fresh pears, quartered and cored, in 13-by-9-inch glass baking dish. Mix 1/4 cup honey, 1/4 cup light brown sugar, 1/4 cup dry red wine or white grape juice, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Spoon over pears. Toss gently until coated. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven 20 to 30 minutes until tender. Spoon into 6 individual dessert bowls.

Big Fat Tip

Sweet potatoes give a seasonal look and taste. Boil 4 whole sweet potatoes (about 1 pound) until tender. Peel, then mash the pulp. Whip with 1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1/2 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and pinch of nutmeg until fluffy. Place mixture in 8- or 9-inch square pan coated with nonstick cooking spray. Bake, covered, in preheated 325 degree oven 25 minutes until heated through.

Future Shop

A practice hard to track in a restaurant, but with consequences that can span miles and generations, is hand washing. Hygiene Guard has developed an infrared detection system that tracks employees who should wash their hands. A badge given an employee upon entering a restroom triggers a sensor. A second sensor on the soap dispenser activates after the employee has been at the sink at least 15 seconds and has pulled the soap lever. Anyone who does not fulfill the sensor's requirements ends up with a blinking badge outside the restroom.

Pumpkins to Parade Spirits to Spook Goodies to Gobble

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Creativity counts more than money on Halloween. From the baby wrapped in a paper bag to resemble a peanut to the flickering pumpkin on a porch that greets trick-or-treaters, much of the fun is in the planning for today's observers of the event.

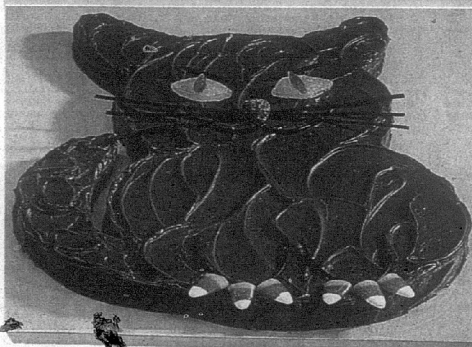

Halloween always has had its spooky side. In a world that had no light bulbs to brighten shortening days and the approaching winter season, a pagan festival of fire marked the transition from summer to winter and revisited intimacy with the dead.

Souls of the departed were expected to warm themselves by bonfires. Both good and bad specters resulted. Costumed villagers led ghosts out of their communities with lit turnips, gourds and pumpkins.

Scary Cat Brownies

Leave black cats out to prowl. Set a place on the table for a brownie cat with a curled tail.

1. Prepare 1 package (13-by-9-inch size) brownies according to fudge-like or cake-like directions on the package. Line two 9- or 8-inch round pans with aluminum foil. Grease foil on bottom of pans only (not sides). Divide dough evenly between pans. Bake as directed for 13-by-9-inch pan. Cool completely. Remove from pan and carefully remove foil.

2. Cut 1 round as shown in diagram. Arrange uncut round and cut pieces top-sides down on large tray or cardboard (18-by-12 inches) covered with aluminum foil to form cat shape.

3. Frost cat with 1 tub (16 ounces) ready-to-spread chocolate frosting of type desired.

4. Using small dab of frosting, attach thin slice from bottom of 2 large yellow gumdrops for eyes, thin slice from green gumdrop for pupils, black gumdrop for nose and shoestring licorice for whiskers, mouth and front paws. Place 3 candy corn on each paw for claws.

Pumpkins

Continued from page 1C. Christianity bent the idea into a remembrance of the dead by praying for them and dressing up like the good people who went before them. The name Halloween evolved from the evening before the all-holy (hallowed) day, Nov. 1 is All Saints Day to remember those who have made it to heaven. On Nov. 2, All Souls Day, Christians pray for the souls of those who are still working their way there.

Popular custom still uses the pumpkin, a colorful symbol of winter produce. Similar vegetables, like squash, were often used.

Today there are kids that make the artful craft easier. Whether this or a kitchen knife, saw and marker are used, the philosophy is the same:

- Draw a six-sided lid on the top of a pumpkin for the lid. Make a tooth-like notch at the back to guide lid replacement. The opening should be cut large enough to allow easy cleaning of the pumpkin's messy insides and seeds.

- Angle the blade toward the center of the pumpkin to create a ledge that supports the lid.
- Use a scoop or flat-edged spoon to scrape away the inner pulp. The wall left should be about 1-inch thick.

- If using a pattern for the face, holes can be made about 1/8-inch apart with a straight pin along design lines. If the holes are too hard to see, connect the dots with dull ink or pencil.
- A spot toward the back and side of the pumpkin bottom is where the candle goes. Aluminum foil can be shaped to hold it. Cut a hole where smoke from the candle starts to blacken the lid to create a chimney.

The Halloween color wheel points to black as the complementary color for pumpkins. Dark chocolate, raisins and licorice automatically fill the role. All the gummy candies make easy decorations on foods, too. Freeze cartons of juice, then let them thaw at room temperature a couple hours, to quench the thirst of those out enjoying the dark night.

SPOOKY COOLER

4 large marshmallows, 4 colored jelly beans and red gel for decorating
1 carton (8.45 oz.) orange drink, chilled
2 cups vanilla ice cream
8 orange-icing, chocolate sandwich cookies, chopped
1 cup lemon-lime soda, chilled
Whipped topping and more crushed cookies for garnish

Decorate each marshmallow with jelly bean and red gel.

In blender, blend orange drink, ice cream and chopped cookies 30 to 60 seconds until smooth. Pour into pitcher. Stir in soda.

Pour immediately into four (9-ounce) glasses. Garnish with whipped topping, decorated marshmallow, and additional whole and crushed cookies.

Makes 4 servings.

WITCH'S BREW CAKE

22 orange-icing, chocolate sandwich cookies, chopped
1 pkg. (2 layers) yellow cake mix with pudding in mix
1 cup water
1 cup canned pumpkin
3 eggs
2 tsp. cinnamon
2 cups whipped topping
1/4 cup chocolate syrup
4 (16 inch) black licorice shoestrings, braided
assorted Halloween candies and colored sprinkles for garnish
Cookie Spiders

Preheat oven to 350°. Grease 10-inch fluted tube pan.

In large bowl, mix cake mix, water, pumpkin, eggs and cinnamon until moistened. Using electric mixer, beat 2 minutes on high speed. Fold in 1/4 cups chopped cookies.

Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 50 minutes until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Let cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool completely on wire rack.

Place cake flat-side up on serving dish. Frost sides and tops with combined whipped topping and chocolate syrup. Press remaining chopped cookies into cream on side.

Attach licorice for pot handle. Decorate with candies, sprinkles and Cookie Spiders.

Cookie Spiders: For legs, insert 1/2-inch pieces of black shoestring licorice into cream on sides of chocolate sandwich cookies. Decorate top with candies, gels or mini chocolate chips.

JACK-O-LANTERN SURPRISE

8 medium oranges
2 pkg. (4 servings each) orange gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup milk, chilled
1 cup vanilla ice cream, softened
1 cup whipped topping
14 orange-icing, chocolate sandwich cookies, finely crushed
Cinnamon sticks, for garnish

Cut small portion off top of oranges. Hollow out centers, reserving fruit for other use. If desired, cut out pumpkin faces, using carving tools without cutting through entire peel.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Refrigerate until slightly thickened.

In blender, blend milk and ice cream until smooth. With motor running, gradually add gelatin mixture, blending until smooth. In large bowl, stir whipped topping into mixture.

Alternately layer cream mixture and half the cookie crumbs into prepared orange cups, ending with cream layer. Refrigerate 2 hours or until firm.

Top each orange with remaining crushed cookies, pressing some into cut pumpkin design. Insert half cinnamon stick into orange top for stem.

Makes 8 servings.

Note: Oranges also can be cut in half to use, layering with gelatin and crushed cookies.

Test Run

GladWare's new two-piece plastic containers have lids that are expected to seal for safe eating of leftovers. At 50 cents each, they are supposed to be an inexpensive, handy item to use in a microwave oven, freezer or dishwasher's top shelf.

Frequent commute part of containers' go-to-work ethic

GladWare wants to go to work, too. The new plastic two-piece containers, which cost about 50 cents each in packs of five, have secure tops and bottoms that can be microwaved, frozen and washed in the top shelf of a dishwasher.

The manufacturer hopes to sell them to people tired of replacing expensive containers lost toting leftovers to work or school.

The tight seal attracted several testers. "The lid is airtight, or I would have had soup in my work tote," an office worker said. A co-worker said it handled her soup well, too.

Pasas' responses replaced skepticism over the light weight of the plastic.

"I was a bit wary at first because the containers feel much less sturdy than heavier rubber-type containers. They held food without any problem though and the seal seemed adequate," a tester said.

She urged caution that people handle them carefully out of the microwave oven after heating, so they do not suffer a burn. She based her observation on the lighter weight of the product.

Testers did not have an opportunity to try them over a long period of time, but the containers' ability to come clean impressed them.

"The GladWare was wonderful to clean up," a tester found. "The smooth texture of the material, I think, must help. So often the texture of plastic containers stains easily and is hard to clean up, particularly when spaghetti sauce or chili has baked on or has been left out to dry up. I like the weight of it, too."

Another considered the capability of the lids to be microwaved a plus.

"This is a definite advantage over more traditional containers because it traps the heat in with the food while cooking," she said.

The usual precautions about venting the lids should prevail when used the containers in a microwave oven.

Several potential testers gave a positive initial response, noting the containers could be recycled. This is not the case with many heavier plastics. GladWare is available in two sizes, a 24-ounce soup-and-salad size shaped in a rectangular bowl, plus a 25-ounce entrée size that could hold a generous square sandwich or several muffins. It is found on the supermarket shelf with disposable zipper storage bags.

Heart-y Bites

Fiber-rich foods hold healthy tomorrow

Your grandparents probably called it roughage. Today this food component is called dietary fiber and has numerous health benefits. The recommended daily intake is 25 to 35 grams per day.

There are two types of dietary fiber, soluble and insoluble. Soluble fiber, which forms a gel in water, is found in apples, oranges, carrots, oat bran, barley and legumes (dried beans and peas).

For people with diabetes, foods high in soluble fiber help control blood sugar by slowing the rate at which foods empty from the stomach. In the intestines, the gel consistency of soluble fiber binds fats and cholesterol and promotes their excretion as body waste. This action has been shown to lower blood cholesterol levels.

Insoluble fiber does not dissolve in water. Rather, it holds water and helps move body waste through the intestines. As a result, this fiber helps prevent constipation, hemorrhoids and diverticulosis, which is the presence of outpouchings in the intestine wall where body waste can become trapped and cause infection and inflammation.

Insoluble fiber is found in wheat bran, corn bran, brown rice, oats, legumes, vegetables and fruits. In addition to the benefits of the individual types, eating plenty of both over the years may help prevent colorectal cancers.

There are quick and easy ways to obtain the 25 to 35 grams of fiber that should be eaten each day. There is no need to count grams of fiber; just eat 5 servings of fruits and/or vegetables and 6 to 7 servings of whole grain breads, whole grain cereals and/or legumes. To increase the fiber content of fruit, thoroughly wash the fruit and eat the fruit with its edible skin.

Canned beans are a quick source of fiber. To reduce the sodium and gas-producing starch in canned beans, drain off the liquid and rinse beans with cold water. With careful draining and rinsing, about 40 percent of the sodium and a significant amount of the gas-producing starch can be removed. Another helpful aid in finding fiber foods is to read labels. Choose foods labeled "high in fiber" and a "good source of fiber."

There are several other guidelines to follow about dietary fiber. When increasing intake of fiber, do it gradually over several months. Each

BLACK BEAN SOUP

1 tsp. canola oil
3/4 cup chopped onion
1 cup finely sliced celery
1 cup finely sliced carrot
2 tsp. minced garlic
1 tsp. cumin
3 cans (15 ounces each) black beans
1 1/2 cups defatted (1/2 less sodium) chicken broth
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
1 tsp. tomato paste
1 tsp. lime juice
1/4 tsp. red pepper

Heat heavy stockpot over medium heat. Sauté onion in oil 3 minutes. Add celery, carrot, garlic, cumin and 3/4 cup water. Cook about 10 minutes until softened.

Drain and rinse 1 can black beans in cold water. In food processor or blender, puree cooked mixture and rinsed beans until very smooth. Return mixture to pot. Drain and rinse remaining beans in cold water. Add beans, chicken stock, parsley, tomato paste, lime juice and red pepper to pot. Heat through.

Makes four (1 1/2-cup) servings; 317 calories, 19 g protein, 52 g carbohydrate, 5 g fat (0.5 mg saturated), no cholesterol, 442 mg sodium and 18 g dietary fiber each.

day drink at least 8 cups of water to prevent hard stool.

Avoid excessive fiber, too. Too much fiber can cause gas, diarrhea and bloating when intestines are not accustomed to it. Fiber intakes above 50 grams per day may interfere with the absorption of minerals, like calcium, zinc, magnesium and iron.

Tame candy monster with Halloween humbug

Candy is dandy, but too many sweets increase the risk of tooth decay and displace more nutritious foods.

Tame the Halloween candy monster by substituting non-trick-or-treat items when trick-or-treat princesses, princes and ghosts come knocking. Big kids and little kids like to receive stickers, pencils, novelty-shaped erasers, mini key chains, toy rings or markers. Healthy snacks — like boxes of raisins, dried apple rings, fresh apples or trail mixes — also are hits with all ages.

Redirect the fun. Limit the number of trick-or-treat stops to homes of close friends, neighbors or relatives. Host a Halloween party with other parents at school, church or neighborhood association.

Give foods fanciful names and healthier intent:

Blood soup: tomato soup served in a mug.
Witch's tea: mix orange juice with grape juice.

Hand sandwich: Using a hand-shaped cookie cutter, shape grilled cheese sandwiches for little tykes. For older spooks, prepare hand mini pizzas: toast hand-shaped slice of bread, top with pizza sauce and cheese. Use olive slices or mushroom slices for finger-nails.

Worm salad: Add slivers of vegetables — such as french-style green beans, shredded carrot and celery, or bell pepper slivers — to a favorite pasta salad. Two-inch sections of spaghetti makes great "worms."

After the loot is gathered, manage it.

One exasperated mother faced with five pounds of Halloween candy invented the Halloween witch exchange.

Each child picked 10 pieces of favorite candies to keep and eat. The rest was put by the front door in their pumpkin or treat bag before going to bed. At night, the "Halloween witch" magically exchanged the candy for a pumpkin full of hair bows, small toys, rulers, flash cards and other small treasures.

This trail mix can be stirred together easily even by a young spook. Vary ingredients to please individual goblins: popcorn or small pretzels; square, round or frosted mini-wheat cereal; oyster crackers or peanuts; raisins or dried apple slices. Omit the peanuts and popcorn for tots under age three to avoid the choking hazard.

Home economist Mary Schroepfer is nutrition specialist for University Extension (University of Missouri system) in Franklin County.

POP SNACK

2 cups unbuttered popcorn, or 1 pkg. microwave popcorn, prepared
1/4 cup dried apple, peach or other favorite fruit
1/2 cup small unsalted pretzels
1/4 cup dry-roasted, unsalted peanuts

1/4 cup raisins

Note: Do not let children open package of microwave-popped popcorn, because hot steam can cause severe facial burns and cornea damage.

Measure popcorn into bowl. Using wooden spoon, stir until mixed.

Serve at once.

Makes 2 servings; 264 calories, 8 g protein, 10 g fat and no cholesterol each.

Micro Raves

By SANDRA HOUNSOM

'Great pumpkin' image smiles on breads, pie

Not everyone has enough room in the yard to plant and harvest pumpkins. Local pumpkin farms are fun for the whole family, as each member searches for a just-right pumpkin to carve into a jack-o'-lantern. Usually the tallest or the fattest wins out over smaller, decorative members of the squash family.

Hours can be spent finding the right pumpkin and more time is required to carve the perfect face—all for one night with a candle inside. It can be a waste of a good vegetable. However, with a little help from a microwave oven, that carved wonder is turned into edible products.

After cutting a hole in the top for a lid, scoop out strings and seeds from inside the pumpkin. Remove and discard as much of the stringy pulp as possible. Wash, drain and pat the seeds dry on paper towels.

Place 2 layers of paper towels in a rectangular glass baking dish. Spread seeds evenly on top. Microwave on high power 10 to 15 minutes until dry but still white in color, stirring twice during cooking. Check frequently during the last 5 minutes, to avoid overcooking. Let stand 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, place 1 tablespoon butter or margarine for each cup of seeds in a 1-cup glass measure or bowl. Microwave on high power 30 to 45 seconds until melted. Stir in seeds to coat evenly. Salt to taste. To spice up roasted pumpkin seeds, use garlic salt, plus ¼ teaspoon curry powder or ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Once Halloween is over, take advantage of a pumpkin before it begins to shrivel. Cook its "meat" for homemade pumpkin pie or cake. In a microwave oven, a small pumpkin, even with a cut face, can be cooked as is, or the pumpkin can be cut in pieces and steamed with or without the peel. Estimate steaming it at about 7 minutes per pound.

Fresh pumpkin, particularly small ones designated for pie, has a stronger flavor than the canned variety. In fact, large ones often are a variety whose flesh works in recipes, but they offer less color and flavor when cooked.

This recipe, a favorite from the "Great Microwave Dessert Cookbook," by Thelma Pressman (Contemporary Books, 1985) can use fresh pumpkin for a flavorful dessert.

Home economist Sandra Hounsom specializes in microwave cooking.

PUMPKIN CAKE

1 cup sugar
1 cup cooked, fresh, mashed pumpkin or 1 cup canned pumpkin
½ cup oil
½ cup buttermilk
2 eggs
½ cup golden raisins

¼ cup chopped dried apricots
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
3 rounded tsp. pumpkin pie spice
½ cup chopped walnuts

Blend sugar, pumpkin, oil, buttermilk and eggs in bowl. Add raisins, apricots, flour, baking soda, salt, 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice and ¼ cup chopped nuts. Beat at medium speed of electric mixer until just blended.

Sprinkle ¼ cup nuts in bottom of 6-cup ring pan. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice. Carefully pour in batter. Elevate mold with rack or inverted saucer in microwave. Cook on medium-high power 13 to 15 minutes, turning twice during cooking.

Let cool on flat heat-proof surface, so batter cooks in bottom of pan. Cool 20 minutes. Invert onto serving plate. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Even goblins think milkshake refreshes; cookie recipes due

Carolyn Bub, Collinsville, Ill., is this week's winner of dinner certificates to the Pasta House Co. for Pumpkin Milkshakes.

This easy treat would serve as welcome refreshment for trick-or-treaters who come home flush with the excitement of rewards in their bags for jokes appreciated by friends and neighbors.

The deadline is Friday for next month's holiday cookie contest. A recipe for any type of cookie can be sent by Oct. 31 to: Cookie Recipe Contest, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Each Wednesday in November a winner will be chosen on the basis of taste and eye appeal, as well as originality, although the recipe need not be original. This gives an opportunity to win and share a recipe four times this month for sending in a single recipe.

Double-check directions and specific amounts, giving variations that individualize the recipe.

If possible, tell where the recipe came from and give specific information about special touches that give it a personal signature or a special story about when it was served. Indicate which Journal newspaper you receive.

Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

Kids' Cuisine

Breakfast finds family niche

French toast is a morning, noon or night meal that is easy to make and handy to eat.

Imagine a morning with no clocks to watch or schedules to keep. It's just time with the kids, enjoying breakfast, stories and laughs together at the kitchen table.

Rinrrning. Wake up!
It's every man, woman and child for himself in the morning with a collective sigh of relief when everyone gets out the door for work or school on time. There can be more to breakfast enjoyment. That is spending time together making it.

These are easy recipes parents can fix with their children. They can be made ahead of time, frozen and reheated in the morning, or quickly put together before school or on more leisurely weekends. They can serve as an appealing, nutritious and easy breakfast, meal or snack.

Basic French toast, prepared without sugar or vanilla for versatility, can be doubled or tripled.

One time stuff ricotta cheese, honey and chopped fresh fruit filling between two halves of French toast. Another time top French toast pizza-style with thinly sliced lean turkey, shredded Monterey Jack cheese and chopped tomato or salsa. On another occasion, cut French toast in sticks to dip into a tasty, simple-to-make dip of yogurt, peanut butter and banana.

Complete each person's meal with a glass of milk and a piece of fruit. A helping of any of these recipes, with an 8-ounce serving of frosty milk, provides about 40 percent of a child's daily calcium requirement.

BASIC FRENCH TOAST

2 eggs or egg whites, lightly beaten
¾ cup milk
8 slices firm white bread
2 to 3 tbsp. butter or margarine

In shallow dish or pie plate, beat eggs and milk, using a fork, until well mixed. Dip bread, one slice at a time, into egg mixture to coat each side well. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in nonstick skillet. Lay coated bread in hot skillet without overcrowding.

Brown slices over medium heat, turning once. Brown remaining bread, adding butter as needed.

Serve French toast immediately with choice of toppings, or freeze, wrapped tightly in foil, for later use. Makes 4 servings.

To freeze: Place each slice of French toast on 12-inch square of aluminum foil. Bring two opposite edges together, fold over ½ inch, then again and again until folds lie flat against toast. Press on foil at French toast edges to release air, then fold to seal foil at those edges also. Use within 1 month for best texture and taste.

To freeze more than one slice in a package: Layer finished French toast between pieces of heavy-weight plastic wrap for easy separation after freezing. Over-wrap all slices in sheet of aluminum foil large enough to fold down seam on each side. For best results, all air must be sealed out of package.

To reheat: Unwrap each slice and toast frozen French toast slice in toaster at medium to light setting until warmed. For warm, soft French toast, microwave each slice on microwave-safe plate on high power 30 to 45 seconds until heated; for warm, toastier French toast, heat frozen slices on cookie sheet in preheated 400° oven about 10 minutes until heated thoroughly.

HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, Oct. 29
Make your wishes on a star! The universe revolves with compassion, and your dreams will receive new consideration. Those who show gratitude for what they have, however little or great, will be rewarded with greater joy to surpass yesterday's grief. Those who are involved in charitable work will shine. Be warm. There are less fortunate souls who would love to live your life.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 29). Charm your way toward next year. Extra energy push-

ORGANIZATIONS

DAR

The Druella Andrews Chapter of the Daughter of the American Revolution held its October Meeting in the home of Jane Vanesler. After a light snack, the meeting was opened with the DAR Ritual.

Judith Schatz read the President General's Message and Emma Schoen presented a article on "Downplaying Patriotism" which seems to be occurring in many of the schools nowadays.

Treasurer Sandra Wilkinson presented her report indicating that all dues are in and she has mailed her reports to the State and National DAR headquarters.

Barbara Williams stated that the three local high schools have been mailed the requirements for the selection of their "Good Citizens". They will be announced after the first of the new year.

An invitation to the 50th Anniversary Luncheon of the Edwardsville DAR Chapter was read. It will be on Nov. 8.

Georgia Engelke, the chapter's historian, announced that she would be speaking to the Belleville DAR Chapter on Nov. 13, and that she also had spoken to the Edwardsville Museum Society recently. Several other local area groups have contacted her for assistance in funding local area projects.

The next meeting of the Chapter will be on Nov. 15, in the home of Regent Linda Mizell.

Legion Auxiliary

The theme for the American Legion Auxiliary this year is "A Castle of Love for God and Country. Memorial is where membership dreams come true."

The caravan consisted of Pat Krawnow, from Countryside, Marilyn Lee, First Vice President, from Hickory Hill, and Membership chairman, Renee Paoletta from Steger.

Twenty-second District Edith Ruehrup, opened the board meeting in regular form, at Fairmont City Post, Sunday, Sept. 14. All chairmen had the opportunity to present the plans of work for the District. The recommendations will be read at the next District meeting which will be held at the Alhambra, Fireman Legion Hall in Alhambra.

Guest at the annual board meeting was a Past Department President Rose Marie Loparco, from the First Division, Jessie Banker from the Second Division, Hilga Fey Department Christmas Gift Shop chairman, from the fifth division.

Announcements: Mid-Winter meeting will be held in Waterloo on Jan. 11, 1997, at the American Legion Hall at 5 p.m. There will be a U.S.O. shower held under the direction of Marilyn Stenier, she is asking all Units and members to bring items for the shower. Service men and women and their families traveling to their homes during the holidays, through McDonnell USO, Lambert International Airport, are complimented thru our contributions, each year.

After the Board Meeting the Caravan presented the plans of work for the year. Renee Paoletta, Department

Growing fund

Central Christian to celebrate

On Sunday, members and friends of Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, will celebrate a homecoming and anniversary of the cornerstone which was laid on Oct. 30, 1955.

Immediately following the morning worship service, the congregation will assemble outside where the cornerstone was laid.

A finger-food luncheon will be served after the service and pictures of the past may be viewed.

Central Christian has played an active part in the community since 1901, and on Johnson Road since 1955.

 it's your ticket to success.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Relationship issues are highlighted, and you might be forced to choose between two equally desirable people. You are a publicity agent's dream. Listen to a teenager's concerns carefully.
GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Show your enthusiasm today! Any change in your schedule brings luck and opportunity. In love matters, know when to say when. Give others moral support instead of looking into your pocketbook.
CANCER (June 22-July 22). Superiors want you to back up your words with performance. Marriages and partnerships reach a deeper level of understanding and maturity.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Once you start to focus, success is inevitable. Put a stop to those financial drains. Gain more energy by getting some well-deserved rest. Be more objective about your co-workers instead of engaging in gossip.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Take dramatic actions. A short-lived job or romance leads to newer and better things. Claims are finally returned to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). A discomfort in your personal life forces you to implement change. Deal with emotions that seemed too heavy before. Those in authority help younger people.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21). You think you know your limitations, but the reality is you can do more. Strive higher, and accept all results as meaningful. Make money by sensing business trends.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You might be driving someone mad, but don't stop—it's more important to be who you are. Your luck comes from those who challenge you.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Intimate secrets make you feel vulnerable, but in reality, you don't want to get too close. Brothers or sisters bring financial opportunities with them.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). An unstable energy could undermine your hard work. If things fall apart, it's proof that the situation was shaky to begin with. A change of residence helps you to get out of a rut.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The lunar aspects inspire decisiveness when you need it most. Ask yourself to do the job and enjoy the process. Ask for a ride or a favor instead of doing it yourself.

By Kevin Carbery
 Correspondent
 With Halloween coming, it would seem to be appropriate to talk about what is scary. I am not a great fan of the horror genre, but I can appreciate some of the stories. My problem is, as I read or watch these sorts of things, I can never completely lose myself in the tales. Questions always pop into my head as to why some of these kinds of creatures try to spook the living. Take ghosts, for instance. What I want to know is, why do spirits want to keep haunted houses for themselves? Is it the noise from humans they protest? Do they want to be able to float around castles in their underwear, as opposed to being forced to dress up for company? What happens after they murder humans? At that point, could the victim then turn around and attack his attacker?
 I eventually came to the conclusion that there were things in life far more frightening than goblins. I can remember seeing "Jaws" and thinking that Dracula wouldn't stand a chance against that shark.
 So for this week's trivia, the topic is Halloween and associated frightening characters. I hope your Halloween is safe and bountiful. And to any punks in my neighborhood, I'll once again be sitting in my side yard with a garden hose, so leave my car windows alone.

 1. Halloween originated in which country? 2. Who is the author of "Dracula"? 3. The character Dracula is based on what real person in history? What is the name of the school teacher frightened off by a headless horseman in "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow"? 5. What was used to make jack-o'-lanterns before pumpkins? 6. While others get candy, what does Charlie Brown receive in his trick-or-treat bag in "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown"? 7. Who directed the horror film "Halloween"? 8. Which actress stars in the werewolf movie "The Howling"? 9. What kind of car is featured in Stephen King's story "Christine"? 10. Who plays the monster in the 1994 film "Mary Shelley's Frankenstein"?

 Answers: 1. Ireland. It first was celebrated by the ancient Celts. 2. Bram Stoker. 3. Vlad the Impaler, a 15th century warrior prince from Wallachia in Eastern Europe. 4. Ichabod Crane. 5. Turnips. 6. Rocks. 7. John Carpenter. 8. Dee Wallace. 9. A 1958 Plymouth. 10. Robert DeNiro.

County H.C.E.

The September meeting of the Granite City Unit of Madison County H.C.E. was held at the anchorage recreational center. The invocation was given by Vincine Zerlan and then a delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses Elizabeth Schmidt and LaNell Lesseg.

The meeting was opened by President Mary Thebeau with everyone reciting the pledge to the flag. The Hostesses Aim was led by the President.

Roll call was taken and there were 10 in attendance. The attendance prize was won by Elizabeth Schmidt.

A motion was taken to send $5 to the Penalties for Friendship.

First Vice President Florence Stokes thanked the hostesses for the meal and then introduced them as the lesson givers. They gave a lesson on "Becoming Politically Astute: Understanding and Impacting the Public Policy Process." It was very informative. The First vice president and the members attending the meeting then filled out the program books for the following year.

President Mary Thebeau announced there will be an Officers/Directors Training School on September 18 at the Farm Bureau Building in Edwardsville.

LaNell Lesseg read a letter regarding International Day.

Winnie Kelley's name will be engraved on the silver platter honoring the deceased.

The District meeting will be Nov. 17 at Hope Lutheran Church.

The Christmas party was discussed. It will be at Ralph and Charles the first Tuesday in December. The committee for the party will consist of Flo Stokes, Florence Hagnauer, Ann Pates, and Vincine Zerlan.

The October meeting will be a potluck luncheon. The hostesses and lesson givers will be Florence Hagnauer and Florence Stokes. The lesson subject will be "Hosting the Holidays with Nutritious Delicious Bounty".

FEELING FIT

BY MARK
LYMBERPOPOULOS

How hard do you need to work out? To improve fitness, exercise aerobically—hard enough to break a sweat and raise the heartbeat to target level. But to improve health, even moderate activity is enough, as long as you do it regularly.

Many older women most at risk for osteoporosis are not getting enough calcium. Many don't like to drink milk or may become lactose-intolerant as they age. Yogurt, canned salmon with the bones in it, and supplements where necessary can make up for the milk deficit.

When you lunge, don't bend your knee into a sharp V. The knee, at a 90-degree, should be no further forward than the big toe. Keep the front foot flat on the floor.

Rowing uses more muscles and more calories than anything but cross-country skiing. It offers an aerobic workout and an upper-body workout, too—which is probably why rowing machines have become so popular. Good ones can be expensive, though.

Don't buy a rowing machine—use ours! You'll enjoy using sturdy, top-of-the-line equipment at

Incom-pear-able pleasure: Fresh, baked or 'buttered'

By Dana Jacobi
Correspondent

Fullly ripe, sweet pears — oozing juice and flavor — are a rare treat to be savored and remembered. Two pear experiences stand out in my memory. One pear was huge, buttery and baked, while the other was a slurpy, sweet piece of fresh fruit. I ate the baked pear on a dark November afternoon in Paris at the cafe next to my hotel. Roasted until the skin was brown and papery, the flesh inside was as moist and delicate as custard, just waiting to be spooned out and devoured.

The fresh pear came from the Monterey Market in Berkeley, Calif. A variety closely related to a golden yellow bartlett, its snowy flesh dissolved into perfume and juice with every bite. Like a song, it was "the essence, the quintessence of joy." Catching a pear at its perfect moment of ripeness is a do-it-yourself project. Unlike most fruit, pears should be picked when mature but not ripe. It is then up to the admirer to let them sit at room temperature until they reach their peak. If left to ripen on a tree, pears develop a gritty texture.

Start with ones that feel firm and are free of bruises. Let the fruit sit out at room temperature or in a closed brown paper bag. In two days to a week, when they are aromatic and the stem ends yield to gentle pressure, pears should be sweet, juicy and at their height of flavor.

Do not wait until pears feel soft in the middle. They ripen from the center out, so by the time this happens, they will be mushy.

This year, the pear crop is plentiful, with thin-skinned bartletts; mellow-flavored anjous; sweet, crisp seckels; meltingly-fleshed, fat comice pears (perfect for baking); red-freckled forelles and spicy-tasting, russet-colored bosc's all in good supply.

Red-skinned varieties of bartlett, comice and anjou pears are available, too. They taste the same as their green-skinned cousins, but can brighten a decorative fruit bowl.

Pear Butter is an unexpected way to enjoy pears. Slow cooking concentrates the fruit's flavor and brings out its natural sweetness. Make this spread in small batches, or cook up a large recipe and spoon it into decorative jars to give as gifts.

Dana Jacobi — author of the "Best of Claypot Cooking" and "The Natural Kitchen: Soy!" — submits this material on behalf of the American Institute for Cancer Research.

PEAR BUTTER

4 large bosc pears (2 1/4 to 2 1/2 lb.)
1/2 cup sugar
1 lemon

Peel, core and stem pears. Cut in large chunks. Puree in blender or food processor to yield about 3 cups.

Using a vegetable peeler, cut zest from half the lemon, removing it in long strips. Reserve the lemon for other use.

In enamel-lined, stainless steel, glass or other non-reactive pan, bring pureed pear, sugar and lemon zest to boil over medium-high heat. Reduce heat. Cook, stirring occasionally with wooden spoon, about 30 minutes until butter is pale brown and thickened.

Spoon hot pear butter into 2 half-pint containers, preferably glass jars with 2-part canning lids. Cool to room temperature and refrigerate. To keep longer, freeze, or process butter in canning jars in boiling-water canner 10 minutes.

Each 1-tablespoon serving contains 11 calories and less than 1 g fat.

CAR CARE

Reduce accident risk with a flip of a switch

"We've got a four-car pileup in the westbound lane of I-24... and a personal injury accident on Second Avenue. Traffic is a monster today folks, so drive with the speed limit, drive defensively, and turn on those headlights. They really help make your car more visible. This is your eye in the sky, over and out."

That's excellent advice from someone in a unique position, a "trafficopter reporter." Daytime driving has taken on a new look just in time for those long, sunny summer days; headlights are not solely for night driving. During daylight hours, when an approaching car has its headlights on, drivers can view, firsthand, the effectiveness of this idea.

The lighted car is easier to see than the vehicles around it. The lights help you distinguish the car from the highway and other surroundings. Finally, headlights help define the car's position on the road and therefore its distance from you.

Recently, daytime running lamps have gotten a lot of publicity. Statistics reveal that this safety feature can substantially reduce the risk of daytime accidents. But the good news doesn't end there. Every motorist, even in older models, can take advantage of this information by simply flipping a switch: the headlight switch. Daytime running lamps have been used for a number of years in other countries and results, in terms of accident reduction, are exciting. In Sweden, for example, there was a 25 percent decrease in multiple-vehicle crashes. A 1990 study in Canada revealed a 28 percent reduction in crashes involving cars approaching from front or side-angles. No wonder some insurance companies offer rate reduction of DRL-equipped cars.

While daytime running lamps already are standard equipment on some U.S. cars, drivers of cars without DRLs needn't worry. Some companies offer retrofit kits for older models. Or motorists can make themselves more visible the old-fashioned way: they can turn on their headlights during daylight hours.

Be aware that daytime lighting will demand more from a car's lighting system than before. This means frequent checks for burned-out sealed beam units is essential. According to recent statistics from National Car Care Month check lanes, 20 percent of vehicles had one or more inoperative lights.

Also, once you've formed the habit of turning on your lights during daytime driving, be sure to get in the habit of turning them off. For safety's sake, carry a good set of jumper cables because leaving your lights on with the engine shut off is a good way to run down the battery.

Rebuilt engines can put life into a car

"You can pay me now or pay me later..." warns the service station mechanic.

His customer resists spending money for an oil change, already overdue. Paying "later," of course, implies an engine repair bill that came about because an engine had worn out before it should have, a result of neglected maintenance. Many vehicle owners leave themselves vulnerable to this kind of expense, according to statistics from National Car Care Month. Nearly one out of three vehicles failed the inspection due to low/dirty oil.

Delaying oil and filter changes, especially on vehicles subjected to severe driving, shortens the life of an engine. Inadequate engine lubrication leads to worn piston rings and bearings, damaged valves, valve guides and more.

"Forget the technical mumbo-jumbo and give me the bottom line," says the frustrated owner who faces an unexpected expense. His quandary: "Should I do something about that worn-out engine or just trade in the car? If economics dictate that I keep my car, should I get an old engine overhauled or have a remanufactured engine installed?"

If the vehicle is in good condition except for the engine, states the Car Care Council, replacing the engine may be the best bet.

No matter how badly deteriorated the old, oil-gulping engine may be, it can be rebuilt or exchanged for a remanufactured engine that will deliver "new car" performance. The cost for installing a remanufactured or rebuilt engine ranges between $1,800 and $2,500, according to the council, and financing usually can be arranged, with payments much lower than for a new car.

ASE certifies

The task of finding a competent auto technician is becoming a bit easier, thanks to the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), a non-profit group that tests and certifies the technical competence of individual automotive technicians.

With more than 350,000 currently certified technicians on its rosters, ASE is the only automotive certification group that is both national in scope and industry-wide. ASE-certified technicians can be found at every type of repair facility, from dealerships to independent garages.

ASE certifies only the technical competence of individual technicians, not the shop.

There are several important benefits to installing a rebuilt or remanufactured engine. The result or trade-in value of your vehicle is enhanced, because a rebuilt or remanufactured engine is assembled to perfection as well as the original engine and normally includes a warranty.

Car Care Council offers a free, illustrated pamphlet entitled "Which Way To Go?" exploring the decision whether or not to invest in a remanufactured engine.

For your copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Car Care Council, Dept. NEPMA, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, Ohio 43452.

Meanwhile, unless you do your own under-the-hood checks, make it a point to patronize a full-service station occasionally just to hear the attendant say, "If you pull the hood latch, I'll be glad to check your oil."

He's offering you a service that could save you plenty down the road.

Today's Food

•Toast

STACK IT!

- 4 slices Basic French Toast
- 1/2 thin slices low-fat deli turkey breast
- 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh tomato or salsa

On each of 4 microwave-safe plates, place slice of French toast, then top with 3 slices turkey and 2 tablespoons cheese. Microwave on high power 40 to 50 seconds until cheese begins to melt and French toast is heated. Top each with 2 tablespoons tomato. Makes 4 servings.

SLICE IT!

- 8 slices Basic French Toast
- 1/2 cup part-skim ricotta cheese
- 4 tsp. honey
- 1/4 cup chopped strawberries (about 4 berries), or 1 peach, peeled, chopped

Combine cheese, 2 teaspoons honey and strawberries in small bowl. Heat Basic French Toast. Spread about 3 tablespoons cheese mixture evenly on each of 4 slices. Top with remaining French toast. Drizzle with reserved honey. Makes 4 servings.

STUFF IT!

- 8 slices Basic French Toast
- 1 ripe medium banana
- 2 tsp. reduced-fat chunky peanut butter
- 1 cup vanilla yogurt
- 2 tsp. cinnamon-sugar

Using a fork, mash banana. Mix well with peanut butter. Stir in yogurt and cinnamon-sugar.

Heat French Toast. Cut each slice in 4 sticks. Serve with dip. Makes 4 servings.

RECIPE

TOMATO RICE RING ITALIAN-STYLE

- 1 large tomato, thinly sliced crosswise
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 tsp. oil
- 8 oz. green beans, cut in 1 inch pieces

- 1/2 medium onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 medium zucchini, sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 2 medium yellow squash, sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. crushed oregano
- 2 tsp. margarine
- 2 tbsp. grated parmesan cheese

Coat 1/2-cup ring mold with nonstick cooking spray. Line bottom with tomato.

Prepare rice according to package directions, omitting butter.

In large nonstick skillet, heat oil. Over low heat, cook green beans, onion and garlic, covered, 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add zucchini, yellow squash, salt and oregano. Continue cooking, covered, about 10 minutes until vegetables are just tender. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine.

Stir cheese into rice. Lightly spoon into prepared mold. Let stand about 5 minutes. Turn out onto serving platter. Fill center with vegetables.

Makes 8 servings; 150 calories, 4 g protein, 3 g fat, 26 g carbohydrate and 507 mg sodium each.
